Shane Stephens

Web Designer - Network Engineer

With over ten year's computer experience, Shane Stephens began as a computer sales technician during the retail PC price wars. Shane was selected to administer the inventory and network functions for a PC component distribution chain. This experience was the career platform used to focus his talents on database management, networking, web and graphic design.

As a consultant, Shane created numerous "total solutions" for charter schools, retail stores, distributors, and small businesses. These products provide total network management and full digital presence via custom PHP and MySQL websites.

His efforts at Visual Management Systems focus on marketing materials, E-Commerce driven websites, web-based sales tools, and OEM branding for partner companies. Collateral duties include companywide maintenance of servers and networks. Shane is currently completing studies leading to an A.S. in Network Engineering and continuing education in related fields.
